Experience to Aid You in Working on Advisory Boards

I've served over half my life as a community organizer - listening to and mobilizing communities to reach their desired outcomes. I've served on community and advisory boards, including service to the town of Carrboro on the OWASA Board, where I successfully balanced the role, responsibility and function of being an advocate and an "adviser". I've been in community with and organized alongside Carrboro citizens and occupy a trusted, servant-leader, advocate role in the community. I'm a great listener, consensus-builder, convener, and ambassador. I look forward to the opportunity to continue to serve my community.

Reasons You Wish to be Appointed

Carrboro is at a turning point in its history. As we move forward into the future, I also believe that we should reflect on where we've come from -- keeping those values which make our community special. I'm seeking membership on the planning board to gain insight and knowledge of that history, and to be a part of the dialogue and collective discourse that will help shape our community's future identity. I had the opportunity to meet members of Carrboro's Planning Board, including the Planning Board's chair, Hathaway Pendergrass and Braxton Foushee. I met them at a community forum in Carrboro, where I was presented with the not-often-celebrated, rich and diverse history of Carrboro, including the fact that African Americans in Chapel Hill/Carrboro led vibrant lives as entrepreneurs and business owners, in addition to owning land/home in largely African American communities. In view of this empowering history, and as a seven year resident of Carrboro, I believe that we should embrace these values of diversity and inclusion, particularly as our community continues to grow. We must continue responsible planning and development to ensure that diverse families (working class Latino and Black, especially) along with young adults (in professional and service industries) find Carrboro to be their desired place to live, work and play.
