The Truth Plaque Task Force continues to meet to explore additional installations of plaques that tell a broader history of Carrboro, which furthers the Town's race and equity initiatives.

INFORMATION: The Truth Plaque Task Force was established in 2018 by Town Council, with the first plaque detailing the ugly truth of the racist history of Julian Carr, the Town's namesake. This plaque was installed at Carrboro Town Hall. The Council approved moving forward with researching and writing additional plaques throughout town.

The Truth Plaque Task Force, at their March 13, 2019, meeting developed the following additional work items:

- Freedman's School/Hackney School (same general vicinity, both black schools)
- Carr Mill Mall
- Strayhorn House
- St. Paul's AME Church (same land donation from Quakers as Freedman's School)
- Lion's Park (off Fidelity St)
- TinTop
- 1913 Lloyd Mill (WWII Ammo factory)
- Black business district on main street
- Government (Bob Drakeford, Mike Nelson, Ellie Kinnaird)

The second truth plaque was approved and installed in 2020 for The Freedman's School and St. Paul AME Church Land.

The Truth Plaque Task Force met in February 2023 to discuss the next truth plaque in Carrboro. The request for the next plaque is to highlight the Toney and Nellie Strayhorn Homeplace. Delores Clark, a Truth Plaque Task Force member, is a great-grandchild of Toney and Nellie Strayhorn, and the task force agreed for this to be the next installed plaque at the homeplace located at 109 Jones Ferry Rd. in Carrboro.

The proposed text for the plaque reads as follows: "Enslaved in Orange County, Toney and Nellie Strayhorn were one of the first Black families to settle in Carrboro. After purchasing 30 acres of land, they built a one- room log cabin in 1879, which has been added onto over the years. This home is a historic landmark and a testament to their faith, resilience, and determination to persevere.”

Ms. Clark and her family have agreed to the proposed language and location of the plaque.

An unveiling ceremony will be planned and advertised in the future.
